<sup>1</sup> The source data for each table is indicated in parentheses for each section. A calendar year is the basis for data from the Census Bureau. Most of the other data on these pages are from the National Child Abuse and Neglect Data System (NCANDS) or the Adoption and Foster Care Analysis and Reporting System (AFCARS) and are based on the Federal fiscal year, October 1 through September 30.

<sup>2</sup> The total child population and data on race/ethnicity represent estimates from the Census Bureau (<http://www.census.gov/popest/data/datasets.html>). Child poverty data are from the Census Bureau's American Community Survey (ACS). Child poverty data for 2012 were not available for inclusion in this report; however, they will be included in the 2010–2013 report.

<sup>4</sup> A child victim is defined as a child who is the subject of a maltreatment report for which the disposition is substantiated, indicated, or "alternative response victim." The rate for foster care entry is per 1,000 children in the state population. Data on child maltreatment victims are from NCANDS. Data on foster care entry rate, children in foster care on 9/30, and children adopted are from AFCARS.

<sup>5</sup> As of 2012, there is a new methodology used to calculate the caseworker visits measures. Because the new methodology limits data comparisons with prior years, caseworker visits data from 2009 through 2011 are not included in this table. All states have the option of using an approved sampling procedure for the caseworker visits reporting requirement. See appendix C for more information on how these data are calculated and for a list of states using sampling methodology.

<sup>6</sup> The unique count of child victims counts a child only once regardless of the number of times he or she was found to be a victim during the reporting year. This is a change from prior reports, and these data are now consistent with the reporting practice in the Child Maltreatment reports.

<sup>7</sup> The rates for Child Protective Services Responses and victims are per 1,000 children under age 18; for fatalities, the rate is per 100,000 children under age 18.

<sup>8</sup> These percentages are calculated against the number of unique victims. A child may have been the victim of more than one type of maltreatment, or the same type of maltreatment more than once. As a result, the total percentages both within and across maltreatment categories may exceed 100.

<sup>9</sup> Response time is defined as the time between the report of suspected maltreatment and the first face-to-face contact with the alleged victim or with another person who can provide information on the allegation.

<sup>10</sup> All races exclude children of Hispanic origin. The Child Welfare Outcomes Report Data Site (<http://cwoutcomes.acf.hhs.gov/data/overview>) provides alternative race/ethnicity breakdowns in which race and ethnicity are treated as two separate categories.

<sup>11</sup> There is no federal definition for a child waiting to be adopted. The definition used in the tables on this page includes children and youth through age 17 who have a goal of adoption and/or whose parents' parental rights have been terminated. It excludes children 16 years old and older whose parents' parental rights have been terminated and who have a goal of emancipation. A state's own definition may differ from that used here.

<sup>16</sup> Calculation of measures C1.1, C1.2, and C1.3 includes a trial home visit adjustment. For these measures, if a child was reunified with a final placement type of "trial home visit," any length of time in the trial home visit beyond 30 days is excluded from the length of stay calculation done by ACF. In addition, only children in care for at least 8 days are included in these measures.

<sup>17</sup> Detailed information on how the individual measures are combined to form the composites is provided in the Federal Register Announcement published by the Department of Health and Human Services on the Children's Bureau website (<https://www.acf.hhs.gov/programs/cb/resource/data-indicators-second-round-of-cfsrs>).

<sup>18</sup> Legally free means that there was a parental rights termination date reported to AFCARS for both mother and father. This calculation excludes children who, by the end of the first 6 months of the fiscal year, had discharged from foster care to reunification, living with relative, or guardianship.

<sup>19</sup> A permanent home is defined as having a discharge reason of adoption, guardianship, or reunification (including living with relative).

<sup>20</sup> The "served" population refers to all children who were in the public foster care system during the year. This number is the sum of two mutually exclusive groups of children: the children who are already in care on the first day of the fiscal year (as of October 1) and the children who enter foster care during the year. An individual child is counted only once for each year.

STATE COMMENT

Mary Beth Bonaventura, Director
Program and Services Division
Department of Child Services

The following are Indiana's comments on the state data presented in Child Welfare Outcomes 2009–2012: Report to Congress.

On July 5, 2012, Indiana instituted a new Child Welfare Information System, Management Gateway for Indiana's Kids (MaGIK). The legacy information system, ICWIS, was a case-driven application with direct, sequential connections between children, families, court actions, and case management. The new system was built to more closely mirror the work of the family case manager and the practice model so that the system is used as a tool to improve case management and not just a tool for collecting necessary data elements. As a result, MaGIK is more person-centered with activities connected primarily to individuals rather than family units. The new system resulted in a learning curve for users performing data entry. The new application required development of new extraction code and mapping documents for AFCARS and NCANDS. Data variances between FY2011 and FY2012 do not necessarily reflect changes in state practice or policy. Indiana will be working to further refine the data collection and mapping in FY2013, but it is expected that there will be data variances for the next few years until fixes and enhancements are completed in MaGIK.

AFCARS data for the second half of 2012 were resubmitted May, 2013. That resubmission showed a significant increase in the number of adoptions as well as other changes throughout the measures included in this report. The information contained in this report does not reflect the resubmission of that data.
